FISCAL ANALYSIS

ASSUMPTION

Officials from the Office of the State Auditor (SAO) assume this proposal would have the potential to increase the number of ballot initiatives that SAO reviews as a part of the property tax certification process. The SAO individually reviews each ballot affecting property tax rates prior to processing. Many ballots require extensive review to determine the meaning and effect on the tax rate ceiling. Given the small size of many political subdivisions, it is probable that many could easily meet the requirement with 10% of voters signing a petition to vote on the tax ceiling. An increase in the number of property tax election ballot initiatives would therefore, result in an increase in the number of ballots we are to review. SAO officials estimate the cost to implement the proposal as one FTE Staff Auditor I Level.

SAO officials provided an estimated cost to implement the proposal including the additional employee and related equipment and expenditures totaling $51,505 for FY 2010, $56,438 for FY 2011, and $58,131 for FY 2012.

Oversight assumes there would be only a limited number of such petitions and that the resulting ballot reviews could be performed with existing resources. If unanticipated additional costs are incurred or if multiple proposals are implemented which increase the SAO workload, resources could be requested through the budget process.

Officials from the Office of Administration, Administrative Hearing Commission assume this proposal would have no impact on their organization.

Officials from the Office of Administration, Division of Budget and Planning (BAP) assume there would be no added cost to their organization as a result of this proposal. BAP officials stated that the proposal would provide taxpayers an opportunity to petition local governing bodies to hold an election to lower their tax rate ceiling, and BAP officials assume this proposal would have no impact on general and total state revenues.

Officials from the Department of Revenue assume this proposal would have no impact on their organization.

Officials from the Metropolitan Community Colleges (MCC) assume this proposal could have a negative impact on their organization. MCC officials stated that lowering their levy rate by one cent would reduce their revenues by $1.3 million.

Officials from the City of Centralia assume this proposal would have no fiscal impact on their organization and that no such election would be likely in the next three years.

Officials from the City of Joplin assume this proposal could have a severe fiscal impact on cities as a whole.

Officials from the City of Kansas City assume this proposal could have a negative fiscal impact on their organization. If the voters were to lower the tax rate ceiling the city would lose approximately $700,000 per penny of levy reduction.

Officials from the Office of the Secretary of State and the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education did not respond to our request for information.

Oversight notes that this proposal would require local governments to hold an election on a proposal to lower the local government's tax rate ceiling whenever the governing body receives a petition signed by at least ten percent of the registered voters. The petition would specify the proposed tax rate ceiling for such local government. If at least sixty percent of the votes cast are in favor of lowering the tax rate ceiling, the lowered tax rate ceiling shall become effective. If more than forty percent of the votes cast are opposed to lowering the tax rate ceiling, then the existing tax rate ceiling would remain effective until that tax rate ceiling is revised as provided by existing provisions. Debt service levy rates would not be subject to the petition process.

Oversight also notes that local governments would still be subject to other tax rate limitation provisions and assumes that this proposal would have a limited fiscal impact to most local governments; however, Oversight assumes that the impact on some local governments could be significant. Oversight assumes the overall fiscal impact could be significant and will indicate an unknown negative impact for local governments for fiscal note purposes. Oversight assumes this proposal would become effective after 2009 tax rates are set and would become effective for 2010 tax rates collected in December 2010 (FY 2011).

Oversight assumes the proposal could result in additional election costs for local governments which might be significant for local governments if the election could not be coordinated with regularly scheduled election dates. Oversight will indicate an unknown local government cost for elections beginning in FY 2010.

FISCAL IMPACT - Small Business

This proposal could have an impact on small businesses if the voters successfully petition and vote a lower tax rate.

FISCAL DESCRIPTION

This proposal would authorize citizens to petition to lower tax rate ceilings of political subdivisions.

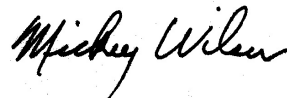

This legislation is not federally mandated, would not duplicate any other program and would not require additional capital improvements or rental space.
